Policies for the Disengagement and Rehabilitation of Radicals and Violent Extremists Short Term Awards

Australia Awards in Indonesia is seeking applicants from Indonesian government agencies, rehabilitation centers, NGOs working in Countering Violent Extremism and universities to participate in a two-week 'policies for the disengagement and rehabilitation of violent extremists' short course. The course will be delivered by Monash University and it will include case studies, site visits to relevant Australian government agencies and networking events.

On completion of the course, participants will be able to:

- Understand the foundations of violent extremism;
- Understand approaches to disengagement and rehabilitation for radicalised groups including terrorist prisoners, returnees and deportees;
- Understand the role of the legal system and law enforcement/security authorities in disengagement and rehabilitation;
- Benchmark regional and international programs and policies for prevention, disengagement and rehabilitation.

To be considered for this course you must have:

- Experience with disengagement, de-radicalisation or counter-terrorism policies for programs;
- Commitment to engage actively and foster networks with multiple stakeholders, including in Australia and Indonesia.
- Commitment to prepare and implement a development project as part of the course.
- Supervisor endorsement to participate in the selection process

Women and people with a disability are encouraged to apply!

Key Dates:

- Pre-course workshop in Indonesia (2-4 October 2018)
- In-Australia course (26 October – 11 November 2018)
- Post-course workshop in Indonesia (5-7 February 2019).

Attendance in the whole three parts of the course is compulsory.
