LPDP- Australia Awards Scholarships

Applying for an LPDP- Australia Awards Scholarship

Background

Indonesia continues to prioritise human capital development as a core contribution to its broader development goals. Central to this is the availability of highly educated and trained human resources to achieve an innovation-driven economy, sustained economic growth, and equitable and inclusive social outcomes.

At the Australia-Indonesia Annual Leaders' Meeting in Sydney in July 2023, Indonesian President, Joko Widodo, and Australian Prime Minister, Anthony Albanese, issued a Joint Communique welcoming new collaboration between Australia Awards Indonesia and the Indonesia Endowment Fund for Education Agency (LPDP) to enhance and expand scholarship opportunities for Indonesian students studying in Australia.

The LPDP-Australia Awards Scholarships are the product of an exciting new partnership that will increase access to scholarships, improve quality of scholarship outcomes, and create new tertiary education linkages between Indonesia and Australia.

Priority fields of study

Postgraduate study programs available under the LPDP-Australia Awards Scholarships will align with Indonesia's development objectives and priority areas of bilateral cooperation.

For the pilot intake round in 2025, LPDP - Australia Awards Scholarships will target study programs relevant to the themes of:

- The Blue Economy
- Green/Renewable Energy
- Digital/Information Technology

The list of university courses to be offered in the pilot round is attached.

Applicants must research their preferred courses, including information provided on university websites, and ensure they meet university entry requirements (including IELTS requirements; IELTS 6,5 with no band below 6.0).
